

Find Me!

Catalina Fox

- Smallest fox in North America: size of a cat
- Native to the Channel Islands
- Threatened by invasive species

Black Footed Ferret

- Native to North American continent
- About 370 in the wild: one of North America's most endangered species

Pink Abalone

- Mainly found on kelp and drift algae
- Marine snails with a strong "foot" for movement
- Declining due to over harvest

Tri-Colored Blackbird

- Form largest colonies of any North American land bird
- Bright red shoulder patches for males, streaked bellies for females
- Hurt by habitat loss to urban development

Sea Lavender

- Grow on seaside cliffs, marshlands, beaches, coastal prairies
- Attract butterflies, bees, hummingbirds, spiders
- Threatened by commercial development

